Society Wants to Acquire Kolping Chapel

The Society has been offered the Kolping Chapel, an official Michigan Historic Chapel. The Kolping Society wishes to sell the land. We must move the chapel to the Historical Village and are looking for donations and fund-raising ideas towards this goal. We will need approximately $35,000.

History of the Kolping Chapel

The Kolping Society established a branch in Detroit in 1926. They purchased six acres on the Au Vasse River and Sugarbush Road in Chesterfield Township, calling it Kolping Park. They later bought more of the surrounding land. In 1932 they built a chapel. The Chapel is a Neo-Gothic Revival structure, designed and chiefly built by Father Joseph Wuest. It is similar to a European wayside chapel and is constructed of coral, marble, granite, stones and shells.

These were sent to Father Wuest by Kolping societies, churches, and missions from all over the world—including the Holy Land. A plaque in the chapel says "Honor by means of untiring work." The chapel was maintained by Bernard Trinity in the 1950s. In 1997 a state historical plaque was erected on the site. Pictured is the chapel in the 1930s and the inside of the chapel as it looks today.
